Thomas Kim
Legislative Correspondent
Senator Merkley (D-OR)

Dear Mr. Thomas Kim,

World Vision is pleased to invite you on a bipartisan, bicameral Staff Learning Trip to New York City, where you will have the opportunity to learn more about the role of the United Nations in addressing global poverty, maintaining international peace and security, and promoting human rights, with a particular focus on UN programs addressing the needs of women and children. The trip will take place from February 23 – 24, 2023.

As a founding member of the United Nations and host of its headquarters, the United States has played an important leadership role in the organization for more than seventy years. The United States also remains the largest donor to the United Nations, with about one-fifth of the annual U.S. foreign aid budget supporting UN agencies and programs. From peacekeeping missions that promote stability, to its work on nonproliferation, counterterrorism, human rights, and humanitarian relief and development, the UN is a force-multiplier for US foreign assistance.

In New York, you'll have the chance to tour the United Nations, meet with the USUN Mission, and learn more about the work of UN agencies like UNFPA and UNICEF to address the needs of women and children globally. Please see the attached draft trip itinerary for more details and please reach out if you have any questions.

I hope that you will be able to participate in this educational and exciting trip. We kindly ask that you RSVP as soon as possible as we have limited slots. Please RSVP here.

Sincerely,

Jacob Watson

HEA Program Manager

Jacob Watson is an experienced program manager at World Vision supporting USAID programs primarily in East Africa. He is a member of World Vision's Humanitarian and Emergency Affairs team, which focuses on meeting the needs of the most vulnerable people in the most fragile contexts.

He currently serves as the Global Hunger Response coordinator for World Vision's latest global response. In this role he helps consolidate efforts in 26 priority countries most affected by the ongoing food insecurity crisis.

Jacob has a passion for food security and holds a bachelor's degree in Soil Science from the University of Tennessee and a master's degree in International Development and Agriculture from Michigan State University.

About World Vision

World Vision is a Christian humanitarian organization conducting relief, development, and advocacy activities in its work with children, families, and their communities in nearly 100 countries to help them reach their full potential by tackling the root causes of poverty and injustice. World Vision serves all people regardless of religion, race, ethnicity, or gender. For more than 70 years, World Vision has been committed to protecting and caring for children and those in need.

Andrew BilloHumanitarian Financing and Partnerships Specialist at UNFPA*

Mr. Andrew Billo is UNFPA's Humanitarian Financing and Partnerships Specialist within the Division of Communications and Strategic Partnerships at UNFPA's headquarters in New York. As Humanitarian Financing and Partnerships Specialist, he manages UNFPA's humanitarian partnerships with all public sector partners, including the Government of the United States. Prior to joining UNFPA, he was a Senior Policy Advisor at USAID's Bureau for Humanitarian Assistance. He began his career with the International Organization for Migration (IOM) with assignments in Viet Nam, Jordan, Egypt, Cambodia, and Nepal and also worked for the UN Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs (OCHA) in New York. He holds Masters' degrees in international affairs and public policy from Columbia University in New York and the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy at the National University of Singapore. He may be reached at billo@unfpa.org.

Dr. Leila JoudaneUNFPA Representative to UNFPA Philippines*

Before her assignment in the Philippines, Dr. Leila Joudane was the Country Representative of UNFPA Iran for four years, where she pushed for the integration of protection and response to gender-based violence, investing in youth and women to harness the Demographic dividend through a life cycle approach, among others, in UNFPA Iran's Country Program. She also served as the UNFPA Assistant Country Representative in Tunisia for ten years. She led the country office's growth in partners and spearheaded developing the Arab region's first comprehensive law on gender-based violence. In addition, Dr. Joudane led the resource mobilization process and positioned the mandate of UNFPA within the UN system and the national stakeholders. Prior to joining the United Nations, Dr. Leila Joudane was the Deputy Director of the National Institute of Family and Population, Ministry of Health in Tunisia. Dr. Leila Joudane is a medical doctor with a master's degree in the Management of Quality of Care in Faculté de Médecine de Tunis, in Sousse, Tunisia.

About the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA)

UNFPA is the United Nations sexual and reproductive health agency. Its mission is to deliver a world where every pregnancy is wanted, every childbirth is safe and every young person's potential is fulfilled. UNFPA calls for the realization of reproductive rights for all and supports access to a wide range of sexual and reproductive health services –including voluntary family planning, maternal health care and comprehensive sexuality education.

Since UNFPA started its work, the world has seen progress: The number and rate of women dying from complications of pregnancy or childbirth has been halved. Families are healthier. In 2018, UNFPA launched efforts to achieve three transformative results, ambitions that promise to change the world for every man, woman, and young person:

- Ending unmet need for family planning
- Ending preventable maternal death
- Ending gender-based violence and harmful practices

UNFPA works to prevent and respond to gender-based violence through its work with policymakers, justice systems, health systems and humanitarian partners. UNFPA also focuses on eliminating harmful practices, including FGM and child marriage, and helps to engage men and boys to advance gender equality.

Shoubo Rasheed JalalSenior Advisor, Gender Equality UNICEF*

An Iraqi health care professional with more than 35 years' expertise in Gender Equality and Social & Behavioral Change fields with a special interest in advancing child and women's rights in development and humanitarian contexts. Dr. Shoubo joined United Nations Children's Funds (UNICEF) in 2002, and is currently holding the position of Senior Advisor, Gender Equality - Programme Group.

She has rich experiences in integrating gender in system strengthening efforts across sectors, developing behavioral and social change strategies, designing, implementing, and monitoring multi sector evidence-based gender transformative programming and developing training manuals & programme tools. Her experience spans across different sectors including Maternal and Child Health and Nutrition, Immunization, Education, HIV, Early Childhood Development, and Protection including programming for SGBV, FGM and child marriage.

Dr. Shoubo embraces local culture, respects values and traditions, and adopts participatory approaches as principles for success.

June KunugiDirector, Public Partnerships, UNICEF*

June Kunugi became the Director of UNICEF's Public Partnerships Division in April 2021. She oversees the organization's resource mobilization from the public sector, its engagement with permanent missions and governments on multilateral affairs in the intergovernmental space, and its UN partnerships. Ms. Kunugi has worked in UNICEF for over 29 years at country and headquarters levels.

From September 2017 to April 2021, Ms. Kunugi served as the UNICEF Representative in Myanmar, where she oversaw child rights-based development programs, humanitarian response, advocacy, partnerships, and operations, and over 220 staff in 9 offices across the country.

Prior to that, she headed UNICEF country and area offices in the State of Palestine, Bosnia and Herzegovina, and Bahrain, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, and the United Arab Emirates. Ms. Kunugi has served three times in UNICEF's New York Headquarters – in the Division of Public Affairs, the Office of the Executive Director, and as Deputy Director and then acting Director of UNICEF's Public-Sector Alliances and Resource Mobilization. She was also the Director of UNICEF's Tokyo office, overseeing public sector partnerships and resource mobilization in Japan and the Republic of Korea.

She started her career UNICEF working in Communications, including in Viet Nam as a Junior Professional Officer sponsored by the Government of Japan, and later in Bangladesh, first as Communications officer, then as Chief of the section.

Aisha Sabar

Senior Advisor and Team Lead, UNICEF

Aisha Sabar joined UNICEF's Public Partnerships Division as Senior Advisor and Team Lead in January 2019. In this role, she leads UNICEF's largest government partnerships, valued at over $1 billion annually in global humanitarian and development programs. Prior to joining UNICEF, Aisha spent ten years in the United States Government at the Department of State in various positions advancing US bilateral and multilateral foreign policy, most recently as Deputy Director (a.i.) at the United States Mission to the United Nations. At the US Mission to the UN, Aisha served as a Senior Advisor to the US Ambassador and negotiated resolutions on UN budget, reform, human rights, migration/refugee and development matters. In her role as Foreign Assistance Coordinator at the State Department, Aisha secured annual foreign assistance funding for the South and Central Asia region. Prior to joining the US Government, Aisha spent time in Northwest Pakistan at the International Organization for Migration implementing conflict prevention and community stabilization programming. She has also worked with nonprofit organizations in the areas of early childhood education and social services for refugees. She holds an MBA from Columbia University and is married with three young children.

About the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF)

For 75 years, UNICEF has been working tirelessly for child rights and for the well-being of every child. UNICEF works in the world's toughest places to reach the most disadvantaged children and adolescents – and to protect the rights of every child, everywhere. Across more than 190 countries and territories, we do whatever it takes to help children survive, thrive and fulfill their potential, from early childhood through adolescence. The world's largest provider of vaccines, we support child health and nutrition, safe water and sanitation, quality education and skill building, HIV prevention and treatment for mothers and babies, and the protection of children and adolescents from violence and exploitation.

Lisa Carty was nominated by President Biden on July 13, 2021, to serve as the Representative of the United States of America to the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations and Alternate Representative of the United States to the Sessions of the General Assembly of the United Nations. She was confirmed as Representative to the Economic and Social Council by the U.S. Senate on February 8, 2022 and sworn in on March 2, 2022. She was confirmed as Alternate Representative to the UN General Assembly on March 29, 2022, and sworn in on April 8, 2022.

Ambassador Lisa Carty

US Ambassador to the UN Economic and Social Council

Ambassador Carty has had an extensive career in public service as both a U.S. diplomat and a senior official of the United Nations. She spent 25 years as a Foreign Service Officer with overseas assignments in Asia, the Middle East and Russia. Her United Nations career has included work with the UN Relief Works Agency for Palestinian Refugees, as well as positions with the Joint United Nations Program on AIDS. Ambassador Carty, who started her career as a volunteer in a refugee camp in Southeast Asia, has worked across the full range of Economic and Social Council concerns with a particular focus on humanitarian issues, health, gender, food security and human rights. Prior to assuming her current role, she served for three years as Director for Humanitarian Financing and Resource Mobilization with the UN's Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs in Geneva, Switzerland where she helped shape the global response to the COVID-19 pandemic in crisis-affected countries.

Earlier in her career, Ambassador Carty helped lead the work of the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation's Global Health Program and was a senior adviser at the Center for Strategic and International Studies in Washington, DC. She holds a master's degree in Public Health from Johns Hopkins University and attended the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy and Georgetown University's School of Foreign Service.

About the US Mission to the United Nations

The U.S. Mission to the United Nations (USUN) serves as the United States' delegation to the United Nations. USUN is responsible for carrying out the nation's participation in the world body. In 1947 the United States Mission was created by an act of Congress to assist the President and the Department of State in conducting United States policy at the United Nations. Since that time, USUN has served a vital role as the Department of State's UN branch. Today, USUN has approximately 150 people on staff who serve to represent the United States' political, economic and social, legal, military, public diplomacy and management interests at the United Nations.
