Purpose and Details

Provide a brief description of the trip.

On this trip to London, we will explore the UK Labour Party's new policy positions at the "center ground" of British politics and discuss the Party's governing agenda should they reclaim power in Britain's upcoming general election. The first two days on the ground will be packed with meetings with Members of Parliament, senior staff, policy experts, and other leaders in academia and the private sector. On May 11, we will conclude the trip by attending the annual Progressive Britain Conference.

Explain how the purpose of the trip relates to your organization's mission.

PPI has been conducting policy work and facilitating educational dialogues with transatlantic partners since the 1990s. The meetings and events on the trip reflect PPI's commitment to working with our international partners and align directly with the goals of PPI's Project on Center-left Renewal.

Is your organization the only sponsor for this trip?

Ms. Chandra Harris
State Director
Office of Senator Jon Ossoff

Dear Chandra,

On behalf of the Progressive Policy Institute (PPI) and our Project on Center-Left Renewal, I'd like to invite you to join us for a transatlantic trip to London departing on the evening of Wednesday, May 8 and returning on Sunday, May 12.

For years, PPI has hosted congressional delegation trips with members of Congress and staff for meetings with our transatlantic allies and international partners. This high-level trip will feature a select group of senior staff working for pragmatic members of the House and Senate who are committed to advancing innovative and forward-looking policies.

On this trip to London, we will explore the UK Labour Party's new policy positions at the "center ground" of British politics and discuss the Party's governing agenda. The first two days on the ground will be packed with meetings with Members of Parliament, senior staff, policy experts, and other leaders in academia and the private sector.

On May 11, we will conclude the trip by attending the annual Progressive Britain Conference. This year's Progressive Britain Conference will explore Labour's "Five National Missions" policy platform. At the conference, we will engage with Labour elected officials and policy experts to discuss their embrace of a more center-left policy platform.

PPI is a non-profit 501 (c) (3) organization with the mission of providing educational programming on current policy issues. PPI was part of the founding and push for the "Third Way" movement in the 1990s and has continued this work since then by maintaining relationships in the UK and Europe and producing informative, thought-provoking transatlantic missions and reports. This trip will comply with House and Senate ethics rules.

I hope that you will be able to join us in what promises to be an insightful and educational trip to London. Space is limited; please contact Stuart Malec at 860-508-8554 or smalec@ppionline.org if you have questions or require further information.

Regards,

Lindsay M. Lewis
