Explanation: There were no additional changes to the pre-approved trip.

Dear Meghan,

On behalf of the United Nations Foundation, we are pleased to invite you to join a Congressional Learning Trip to Ethiopia from August 9–16, 2025.

This learning trip will offer a unique opportunity to see how U.S. government investments in global health are working on the ground through trusted bilateral and multilateral partnerships to improve child health and wellbeing. The delegation will observe how UNICEF, the World Health Organization (WHO), and other UN agencies are collaborating with the U.S. government and the Ethiopia to prevent and respond to public health threats, including malaria, vaccine-preventable diseases (VPD), and emerging infectious disease outbreaks.

The trip will highlight the critical role these partnerships play in protecting vulnerable children from disease and strengthening local health systems to detect and respond to future threats—ultimately helping protect U.S. citizens at home and abroad. Delegates will explore how these global efforts align with U.S. foreign policy and national security priorities, while showcasing the tangible results of American leadership and taxpayer investments.

While in Ethiopia, participants will travel to Addis Ababa and surrounding regions to meet with UN agency staff, local and national health officials, and community members. Site visits may include pediatric and maternal health clinics, malaria treatment and control programs, immunization campaigns, disease surveillance hubs, and WASH (water, sanitation, and hygiene) and nutrition-focused interventions. The delegation will also gain insight into Ethiopia's broader primary health care infrastructure and how multilateral and bilateral programs are reinforcing the country's ability to respond to humanitarian emergencies and natural disasters.

The UN Foundation will cover all transportation, hotel, and meal costs during the trip, in accordance with House Ethics rules. Trip participants will depart from Washington Dulles Airport (IAD) on Saturday, August 9, and return to IAD on Saturday, August 16.

We hope you will be able to join and are confident that this opportunity to see firsthand how U.S. leadership and UN partnerships are advancing global child health will be both timely and valuable to your work in Congress. Space is limited: to confirm your participation, please RSVP no later than July 6. Please don't hesitate to reach out with any questions.

Warm regards,

Harsh and Brian

Purpose and Details

Provide a brief description of the trip.

During the trip, the delegation will travel to Ethiopia to observe how the US, and the UN are working together to prevent and respond to public health threats, including malaria, vaccine-preventable diseases (VPD), and emerging infectious disease outbreaks. This learning trip provides an opportunity for the delegation to learn about impact of bilateral global health programs led by CDC, the State Department, and multilateral partnerships through UNICEF, WHO, Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance, the Global Polio Eradication Initiative, and the Global Fund in Addis Ababa and Afar, Ethiopia. The delegation will conduct site visits to rural and urban health facilities, pediatric and maternal health clinics, malaria treatment and control programs, immunization campaigns, disease surveillance hubs, and WASH and nutrition-focused interventions. Staff will also meet with community health workers, technical experts, public health NGOs, and families benefitting from US investments.

Explain how the purpose of the trip relates to your organization's mission.

The UN Foundation works to educate all Americans, including Members and Staff of the U.S. Congress, on the importance of a strong U.S.-UN relationship, with a particular focus on bilateral and multilateral global health issues such as global immunization, malaria, and child health. Participants will learn how bilateral State Department and CDC global health interventions work in complement with, and are amplified by, multilateral global health activities.

Is your organization the only sponsor for this trip?

Yes No

2:30pm – 5:00pm Visit to Ethiopia Public Health Institute (EPHI) headquarters, National Emergency Operations Centers (EOC), and Public Health Laboratory

The delegation will receive a briefing and tour from the EPHI Director and staff to better understand public health preparedness and response activities for vaccine preventable disease outbreaks, especially the current response to polio and mpox.

The delegation will also tour Ethiopia's National EOC at the EPHI. The EOC coordinates all Ministry of Health (MoH) and partner activities related to ongoing outbreak response efforts. During this visit, the delegation will learn about response strategies used for current responses, such as polio, measles, cholera, mpox and anthrax. The delegation will also hear from a Field

Epidemiology Training Program (FETP) graduate and other response workers on the impact CDC's training program and partnership with the MoH has had on detecting and responding to outbreaks quickly on a national scale. This visit will allow participants to gain a deeper understanding of how Ethiopia's national early warning and emergency management systems allow the country to detect and contain infectious disease threats before they spread outside of Ethiopia, including to the United States.

The delegation will also tour the Public Health Laboratory, located at the EPHI and on site with the Ethiopia National EOC. The laboratory receives both human and wastewater/environmental specimens from clinics and wastewater surveillance collection points across the country to test for infectious diseases including polio and mpox. Laboratories play a key role in strengthening surveillance/outbreak response capacity in country to quickly detect infectious disease concerns and track outbreaks. The national lab, along with its network of regional laboratories, has confirmed recent cases of mpox, polio and measles in Ethiopia all of which are ongoing outbreaks. This surveillance information is used by health programs and the EOC to inform decision making around outbreak response activities.
