Dear Josh,

Thank you for your interest in the Innovative Future Collective (IFC).

As you know, IFC was established to serve as a resource for Congressional teams and the public, providing information and education on the entire AI ecosystem. Our organization fosters an environment where diverse perspectives are valued, and we do not advocate for specific policies. Instead, our primary focus is on educating, discussing, and experiencing technology.

To enhance understanding of AI's application in business and its development, we are pleased to invite you to an educational trip to the San Francisco area, scheduled for June 16-18, 2025.

Attached, you will find all the necessary information to submit your approval to the Ethics Committee. It includes a draft of the schedule for the trip.

Due to limited space, we kindly request that you confirm your intention to participate and submit your documents by 6:00 PM ET on Tuesday, May 13.

If you have any questions regarding the programming or the trip, please do not hesitate to reach out to me directly at (571) 277-3703 or ashley@innovativefuturecollective.com.

Best regards,

Ashley Kennedy

Hotel Selection Justification:

We explored numerous hotel options. However, given the characteristics we needed in a hotel to fulfill the purposes of the trip, we had to choose a hotel that exceeded the GSA's stipend for the area. The characteristics we needed in a hotel are:

- 1) Audio/Visual and use of the reception for briefing the group before the morning departure
- 2) Walkability to restaurants and meeting locations to decrease transportation cost and travel time, due to the very brief time for programming
- 3) Safe area where participants can walk outside
- 4) In-hotel food and beverage options late at night and early in the morning due to the schedule and the early departure to the airport.

When identifying possibilities that met these qualifications, and had the availability for the group of our size, the selected hotel offered the most competitive rate.

Background:Traffic Time:

Traffic in and around SF is incredibly heavy and time consuming. Navigating from one of the other areas of the city, such as Presidio, Fisherman's Wharf, Pacific Heights, causes a minimum of 30-55min in the car between stops. Looking at suburbs, such as Oakland, adds even more time. Due to the brief nature of the trip—less than 48hrs "on the ground" we wanted to minimize the group's time in traffic. Therefore, the hotel selected is within walking distance (or a short waymo drive) to the restaurants both evenings and the meetings. As you know, finding restaurants that work within a limited budget with all our necessary requirements, was quite a challenge!

Cost of Transportation:

The cost of providing group transportation in San Francisco and the surrounding areas is very high per hour. Due to the location of this hotel, we are able to reduce the transportation costs by allowing the group to walk to dinner on June 17th.

Safety:

As has been well publicized, San Francisco has struggled with significant safety challenges of late, especially in tourist areas

(<https://www.travelweekly.com/North-America-Travel/San-Francisco-prepares-revitalize-tourism>)

As the group of staff can be a high target for crime, we were very mindful to do all that is possible to ensure the safety of our group. Therefore, safety of the neighborhood and walkability was an important factor when considering hotels.

Room Availability

Our rooming block needs a minimum of 20 rooms. Given the later date of this trip planning, this was a challenge in the summer months. We found many options did not have availability due to the summer tourist months and other conventions/groups rooming block reservations.

Private space in reception/meeting area with AV/Mac Hook up Capabilities:

In order to gather our group to queue for events, we wanted a hotel that enabled us to meet and give a brief overview of the day via a slide presentation for the group near the reception without requiring us to reserve a private room (which would increase costs). Few hotels had such space and fewer would allow us to use it. This further restricted the suitable options.

Meals Cost Justification

Regarding the meals, we worked to the best of our ability to meet the per diem. In order to maximize the time the group has "on the ground" in San Francisco, we have made each lunch a "working lunch". Therefore, we must order in food and pay for the delivery and set up or use the "in-house" catering of the company. As a result, our options are very limited once that is factored in. The average cost for each lunch will be about $30 per person.

For breakfast, to try to reduce costs as much as possible, I will be picking up the bagels and breakfast options and bringing them on the bus to the Stanford Lab so no private space is needed and no service charge is required.

For the dinner with speakers, we needed completely private rooms with AV systems, due to the speaker's presentations. With our staff and speakers, the room size needs to seat at least 25 comfortably. Most venues that are able to fit groups this size have a minimum spend to book the room, regardless of how many people are eating. Our research (ie calling, emailing and checking online) of restaurants or hotels with this type of space available typically starts at $3,500 min spend. However, we were able to negotiate a slightly lower minimum at the dinner venue.

Additionally, it is important to note that restaurants that operate in San Francisco have several added costs: automatic gratuity of 22%, 6% SF Employer Health Mandate fee, plus 8.63% sales tax. This drives up the cost of any meal in a private space significantly.

For your reference on the extent of options we research, this website lists most of the ones we reached out to: <https://www.sfpdx.com>.
