Jobs for the Future

Tuesday January 27, 2026

Dear Jackson,

On behalf of Jobs for the Future, I'm writing to invite you to an upcoming Congressional Staff Network (CSN) site visit to New Orleans, Louisiana from Tuesday, April 7 – Thursday, April 9.

In New Orleans, staff will learn about regional, cross-sector efforts to strengthen pathways into the workforce for youth and adults – particularly those who are un- and underemployed. Chancellors from southeast Louisiana's community and technical colleges will discuss their industry-driven training models to strengthen talent pipelines for key industries, including training the workforce needed for the launch of NASA's Artemis II rocket. Secondary and higher education partners will share how they're supporting the Gulf Coast's maritime industry and the expansion of the Port of New Orleans, including a collaborative effort to develop a comprehensive "K-20" career pathways ecosystem for maritime manufacturing.

Leaders from NOLA's highly coordinated network of youth intermediaries, together with their industry partners, will share how they deliver career-connected learning that equips all young people for career success – especially "Opportunity Youth" who are disconnected from both school and work. Attendees will see these training programs, including youth apprenticeships, in action and hear directly from young people about their experience.

Staff will also learn about several workforce development initiatives that serve people with records and youth in the juvenile justice system, including Goodwill's Re-Integration Program (GRIP), supported in part by a U.S. DOL Reentry Opportunities Pathway Home award; Café Reconcile's implementation of a U.S. DOL Young Adult Reentry Partnership grant; and a welding dual enrollment program that equips juvenile detainees with the skills they need for high-wage careers post-release.

Please confirm your participation by Wednesday, February 25. Once you confirm your plans to participate, our team will share further information for the trip, including the agenda and the necessary ethics documentation.

Best,

Taylor Maag
Director, Workforce Policy

History of Congressional Travel

Jobs for the Future (JFF) has sponsored site visits and other educational activities for Congressional staff for over 17 years. Examples of this work include 3-4 DC-based forums per year, and approximately two site visits per year where senior Congressional staff see high-quality workforce programs first-hand and learn from experts, practitioners, and program participants about the impact of federal policy on the ground. Educational Activities

JFF works with partners around the country to design and drive the adoption of education and career pathways that lead to upward economic mobility, especially for individuals who face systemic barriers to advancement. Purpose and Details

Provide a brief description of the trip.

The Congressional Staff Network (CSN) convenes a bipartisan, bicameral group of senior Congressional staff to focus on policy issues at the core of economic mobility: K-12 education, postsecondary education, workforce development, and human services. The purpose of this trip is to educate staff about evidence-based approaches to education and workforce development that prepare learners, workers, and jobseekers for high-wage careers, while supporting regional economic growth and resilience. Participants will see program models designed to promote economic advancement, align training with labor market demand, and accelerate the diversification of southeast Louisiana's economy. They will engage with stakeholders involved in developing and implementing these efforts, including public workforce and education system leaders, regional employers, and community-based organizations.

Explain how the purpose of the trip relates to your organization's mission.

JFF's mission is to drive transformation of the U.S. education and workforce systems to achieve economic advancement for all. Specifically, JFF aims to eliminate barriers to economic mobility by making our education and workforce systems more effective, better connected, and easier to navigate. Lunch & Session: Models for Postsecondary Access and Success in New Orleans

NUNEZ COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Student Testing & Career Counseling Center

Chalmette, LA 70043

Leaders from Nunez Community College will share how their institution is taking a holistic approach to promote postsecondary enrollment, retention, and completion for students who are traditionally underrepresented in higher education. Discussion will cover key models to serve students in rural areas and adult learners, and how federal programs including the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) support these efforts.

Speakers will also dive deep into a key model for student access: dual enrollment. Half of Nunez Community College's total student body are dually enrolled, meaning they are high schoolers who are earning college credit concurrently. In addition to the institution's successful CTE dual enrollment programs with local high schools, they recently expanded the model to provide dual enrollment welding courses and hands-on internships to students from the juvenile detention center. Students in the summer internship program fabricate park benches, bicycle racks, and other products that outfit public parks and trails throughout St. Bernard Parish.

The Port of New Orleans (Port NOLA) is central to the state economy – one in five jobs in Louisiana are connected to the maritime industry – and demand continues to grow. This pressure has accelerated industry efforts to reach untapped talent and hire from local communities. To support the port's expansion and drive regional economic prosperity, the city designated Port NOLA the official facilitator of the region's Transportation, Distribution, and Logistics sector partnership, launched with $400k from ARPA funds.

Speakers will highlight a few key initiatives, including how employers partnered with Nunez Community College to

Over one-in-three Americans has a criminal record, from arrest to conviction, triggering tens of thousands of barriers to work that drain an estimated $78 billion to $87 billion in annual GDP from the U.S. economy. Southeast Louisiana has become a laboratory of solutions for this population of workers, leading the piloting and scaling of exemplary workforce training and reentry models. This session will explore some of those efforts and how federal policymakers can help replicate nationwide.

Staffers will learn about Goodwill's Re-Integration Program (GRIP), which is funded in part by the U.S. DOL Reentry Opportunities Pathway Home program and offers skills training to individuals who were released from prison within the last seven years. Speakers will discuss how the region's sector partnerships are overcoming policy barriers to economic mobility for people with records such as difficulties accessing federal Transportation Worker Identification Credential (TWIC) cards while supporting employers in need of skilled workers.
