Come and experience going through the dam's lock via boat and a walking tour of the Lower Granite Dam. In a full day's tour, you will hear from stakeholders who rely on Marine Highway 84 for transportation, hydropower, irrigation and tourism, as well as visiting the dam and the Port Lewiston. This is a privately sponsored event with limited number of spots available which will be filled with a first come, first served basis. Travel days August 17th and 19th. Kindly respond by June 10th, if you are interested.

RSVP by email: kgilkey@wawg.org or call 509-990-6105.

Lower Snake River Dams' Lock System

Allow barges to transport 60 percent of U.S. wheat exports and 50 percent of U.S. wheat donations to international food programs. We would see significant reduction to this export system's ability to feed the world without the ability to cost-effectively transport grain.

Region Relies on

More than 50,000 acres of diverse crops are

Irrigation Water

irrigated with water originating from the river. Crops range from alfalfa hay, potatoes, other vegetables, and fruit trees.

River Transportation

Assists in meeting our region's climate goals. Barging is the most efficient transportation mode with the least CO_2 emissions per ton-mile. Replacing barging with rail and trucking would require an additional 5 million gallons of diesel each year, significantly increasing CO_2 emissions.

Salmon Populations

Innovative solutions like fish ladders, turbine bypass systems, and spillway weirs help guide juvenile salmon safely downstream. New fish-friendly turbines, with safer blades, reduce the risk of fish injury and improve energy efficiency. Today, fish passage at many projects is highly effective, with survival rates at, near, or above 96% past each dam for juvenile salmon and steelhead.

Hydroelectricity Is one of the cleanest, affordable and efficient sources of electricity. Hydropower in the Pacific Northwest provides benefits beyond electricity generation by providing flood control, irrigation support and clean drinking water to surrounding communities.

Tourism American Cruise Lines cruises the Columbia and Snake Rivers aboard six modern riverboats and two classic paddlewheelers, each accommodating 150 to 180 guests. Other tourism centers on outdoor recreation, including jet boating through Hells Canyon, salmon/steelhead fishing, and boating on reservoir lakes.

The day's tour will conclude at Lindsay Creek Winery where local farmers will join us for dinner.

Purpose and Details

Provide a brief description of the trip.

We will provide a first-hand experience and educational tour of our Lower Snake River System that is used for renewable energy, irrigation and transportation of our commodity. Participants will have the opportunity to experience the loc through the dam on a boat, tour the Lower Granite dam facility, learn more about the Port of Lewiston and its activities and learn more about barge transportation system. They will hear from farmers, barge operators, managers and other related river system users.

Explain how the purpose of the trip relates to your organization's mission.

The Lower Snake River system is an important element in getting our farmers' (members') product to market. Many of those in D.C. making important decisions about the river system have never experienced nor seen the dams and how they benefit our region. We are a nonprofit member-based organization that provides educational information to our members as well as the public about the importance of our wheat industry.

Is your organization the only sponsor for this trip?

○ Yes ◉ No

Describe your organization's role in planning the trip.

We are the main sponsor, planner and organizer. We have three joint sponsors for this educational tour: Washington State Potato Commission, The McGregor Company and Northwest RiverPartners. Our joint sponsors are assisting in funding and providing speakers during the tour.

History of Congressional Travel

The Washington State Potato Commission has a long history of sponsoring bipartisan educational travel that brings congressional offices directly to farms, processing facilities, research sites, and critical infrastructure. These tours provide firsthand insight into how federal policy affects Washington growers, rural communities, and the agricultural supply chain.

Educational Activities

The Washington State Potato Commission educates growers, policymakers, industry partners, and the public through policy briefings, research updates, workshops, publications, and direct outreach. These activities provide practical information on production, trade, water, labor, environmental regulation, food safety, and other issues affecting Washington's potato industry.

Lower Snake River Dam System Educational Tour

Lewiston, Idaho

With financial support from Washington State Potato Commission, The McGregor Company and Northwest RiverPartners

August 17-19, 2026

Tour Objective/Goal: The Washington Association of Wheat Growers (WAWG) will demonstrate the importance of Marine Highway 84 for the region's navigation, irrigation, tourism and hydropower. Nearly 60 percent of the nation's wheat, corn and soybean are transported on the Lower Snake River-Columbia River system for export.

Relevance to Staffers' official duties: Congressional staffers were targeted by their topics of responsibility including agriculture, natural resources, energy, and/or transportation. Many staffers have never had the opportunity to see the Lower Snake River System. We want them to experience the river system first-hand and hear from those who utilize the river for navigation, irrigation, tourism and hydropower

Location: The purpose of travel to Lewiston, Idaho is for staffers to see and experience a hydro-power generating dam with fish ladders, visit the nation's furthest inland seaport in Lewiston as well as learn about the activities of the Port of Lewiston.

August 17 -- TRAVEL DAY

7:25 am flight departs Washington, D.C. or member's home district and arrival at Spokane International Airport around 2:09pm.

3 pm Bus shuttle leaves airport to Hells Canyon Grand Hotel.

5 pm Arrive at Hells Canyon Grand Hotel, 621 21st St. in Lewiston

There are no activities planned for this day. Will provide a voucher for dinner if they choose to stay on premise for their evening meal.

August 18

6:30 - 8:45 am Working Breakfast and Introductions at hotel

Panel providing overview tour and sharing the importance of Marine Hwy 84 by river users' panel and set the stage for the day's stops. This panel will share several of the perspectives that we don't enough time to show during the tour.

Michelle Hennings, Panel Moderator, WAWG
Neil Maunu, Pacific Northwest Waterways Association
Captain Jeremy Nielsen, Columbia River Pilots
Mark Freeman, American Cruise Lines
Jennifer Riddle, Tidewater

8:45 – 10:15 am Load bus and go to Boyer Park & Marina
Geordy Bryant Greene, WA State Potato Commission will share importance of irrigation to region's farmers.

Tom Kammerzell, Port of Whitman Commissioner will share history of area as well as information about the Port of Whitman County (which owns Boyer Park and Marina).

10:15 –11:00am Arrive Boyer Park & Marina 1753 Granite Rd. Colton (Hwy 195 to Hwy 194)

Get on tour boat to go through the navigation locks to the Lower Granite Dam Experience the navigational lock from inside as the boat goes through the locks, Corp of Engineer representative will be on the boat to explain the process as it happens. These are one of four of the navigational locks on the Lower Snake River System and are critical to shipping fuel, fertilizer and commodities (wheat, lumber, corn and soybeans) as well as for the cruise ships to go up and down the river. Bus will meet the boat on the other side of the dam and transport group to the visitor center for the start of the tour.

11:00 am-1:15 pm Arrive at Lower Granite Dam

Clark Mather, Northwest RiverPartners Clark will share region's hydropower helps provide clean energy to his organization's members – community-owned electric utilities in OR, WA, ID, MT, US, NV, CA and WY.

Chuck Witherspoon, Corp of Engineers, Safety brief and Project Orientation presentation provides mission of dam (hydropower, fish passage and navigation)

Walking tour of Dam – Corp of Engineers

- Information Center
- Adult fish trap – watch various agencies conduct studies on adult salmonids
- Adult fish ladders –bird's eye view of how a fish ladder works
- Fish screens – how fish are diverted away from turbines
- Removable Spillway Weir (RSW) – bypassing juvenile fish through spillways
- Power House – show running generators and discuss power production
- Group photo in front of the dam

The opportunity for House/Senate staffers to see first-hand the dam and its multiple purposes is a very critical element of this event. They will be hearing from Corp operation manager and fish biologist as to the power and fish saving activities that occur at the dam.

1:15 pm Load bus, pass out the boxed lunches and drive to Port of Lewiston

Leslie Druffel, The McGregor Company will share how this family-owned business provides fertilizer and crop protection to the region's farmers and uses Marine Hwy 84 to transport their product.

George Walker, AgriNorthwest the company's history dates to 1968 and is headquartered in Kennewick, WA, and includes several large farms in WA and OR and uses irrigation with their crops.

2:45-3:45 pm Port of Lewiston, 1626 N 6th Ave., Lewiston

Scott Corbitt, Manager of Port of Lewiston provides a tour of the port facilities and the new cruise line docking structure. This is the nation's further inland seaport and there are many businesses at the port. We will see the recently completed Confluence Riverfront docking system for American Cruise Lines (a large economic driver to area's tourism).

Xochitl Casteneda, MARAD, Director of Pacific Northwest & Alaska Gateway, for US Dept. of Transportation. The DOT agency responsible for America's waterborne transportation system, the Maritime Administration (MARAD) is busy. At their core, they support the technical aspects of America's maritime transportation infrastructure -- things like ships and shipping, port and vessel operations, national security, environment, and safety. They promote the use of waterborne transportation, and ensure that its infrastructure integrates seamlessly with other methods of transportation.

3:45-4:00 pm	Load bus and go to Hells Canyon Grand Hotel, 621 21st St.
4:00-5:00 pm	Participant break time at hotel
5:15 -5:30 pm	Load bus and arrive at Lindsay Creek Vineyard, 3107 Powers Ave.
5:30-8:30 pm	Networking and Dinner – invitation has been sent to farmers that did not attend the tour to come and join us for dinner. We want staffers to meet our growers and hear their stories of the value of Marine Hwy 84 to their farms and businesses.
8:30-8:45 pm	Return to hotel – event concluded
