Were there any changes to the pre-approved travel expenses? (Transportation, Meals, Lodging, Other)?

☑ Yes ○ No

Expense Change	Revised Amount	Explanation
Transportation	$10,214.32	The price increase is due to an increase in helicopter costs for the aerial tour of the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Two days before our trip was scheduled to depart, we got word that one of the helicopters we had booked had been called away on a wildfire. As a result, we had to pivot and find a backup helicopter, which was notably more expensive to book last-minute. Due to high gas prices, we were also charged an additional fuel surcharge. Hannah Downey, the main PERC point of contact, reached out to the Ethics Committee via phone and confirmed that this was an acceptable way to proceed in booking the backup helicopter.

Were there any changes to the pre-approved itinerary?

Arrivals and departures will be based out of Bozeman, Montana, but we will have the opportunity to visit and learn about places including Yellowstone National Park, the Custer-Gallatin National Forest, and private agricultural lands in Paradise Valley. A draft agenda is included here.

Due to the nature of the trip, we are limited in space to 16 attendees. As a member of the Senate Stewardship Caucus, we would like to invite you and up to one guest to join us. RSVPs will be accepted on a rolling basis, with a deadline of Friday, May 29. Please RSVP to Kate Thornburg at kate@boone-crockett.org. Travel requests for this trip are due to the Senate Ethics Committee by Friday, June 5, and we will provide you with additional details and required forms by the end of the month if you are able to attend.

Thank you for your leadership on natural resource conservation policy. We look forward to you joining us to learn more about the important policy issues on the ground in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem.

Purpose and Details

Provide a brief description of the trip.

PERC and the Boone and Crockett Club are inviting members of the Senate engaged and implicated in shaping natural resource conservation policy to Bozeman and the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem to learn about and experience first-hand some of the greatest conservation challenges and opportunities facing our country. Senators will learn about policy issues including forest restoration and wildfire policy, fee policies and national park funding, visitor management in national parks, deferred maintenance backlogs in national parks and federal lands, endangered species recovery, trans-boundary wildlife conflicts, wildlife migration corridors, and the role of agriculture and private working lands in conservation. The trip will begin and end in Bozeman, Montana, with educational presentations at stops including the Custer-Gallatin National Forest, Yellowstone National Park, and Paradise Valley.

Explain how the purpose of the trip relates to your organization's mission.

PERC's mission is to advance conservation through markets, incentives, property rights, and partnerships. We strive for a world with healthy land, water, and wildlife sustained by voluntary, cooperative conservation and incentives for environmental stewardship. This trip is an opportunity for us to help educate Senators on shaping environmental policies rooted in incentives and cooperation rather than regulation or litigation and applying these tools to resources they are charged with shaping policy for, such as national forests, national parks, rivers, and agriculture. Learning about these issues first-hand from on-the-ground experts not in Washington DC, including national park staff, regional biologists and scientists, ranchers, and Montana-based conservation organizations, will equip the Senators to better understand the nuances of their policy work.

Is your organization the only sponsor for this trip?

○ Yes ● No

Describe your organization's role in planning the trip.

PERC is partnering with the Boone and Crockett Club in organizing the trip to be an educational experience for Senators to learn about land, water, and wildlife conservation policy. Specifically, we are planning trip logistics, making travel arrangements, scheduling experts to present and educate the Senators, and preparing educational materials so the Senators can take and apply what they're learning to their policymaking duties.

History of Congressional Travel

We have spent a good deal of time educating and providing information to members of Congress and Congressional staff. This is our first time sponsoring congressional travel where we are getting members of Congress on the landscape.

Educational Activities

We have a conservation education program at the Theordore Roosevelt Memorial Ranch that includes both place based and virtual education methods. Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem Conservation Policy Trip
2026 Senate Stewardship Caucus Bozeman CODEL
July 6-8, 2026

Hosted by:
Boone and Crockett Club
PERC

Agenda:

Monday, July 6:

- 6:05am: Depart ABQ
- 10:35am: Arrive BZN
- 1:00pm - 2:00pm: Welcome and Overview of the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem
    - Focus: This session will provide an introduction to the geographic and ecological diversity of the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem with an emphasis on how the U.S. Forest Service and the State of Montana are collaborating through Good Neighbor Authority to conduct forest restoration projects to reduce wildfire risk and conserve wildlife habitat. Presenters will discuss forest health, wildlife migration corridors, watersheds, and transboundary natural resource management and share maps of what participants will see firsthand during the following aerial tour.
    - Location: Central Copters hangar adjacent to Bozeman Airport
    - Educational presenters:
        - Brian Yablonski, PERC - CEO
        - Tony Schoonen, Boone and Crockett Club - CEO
        - Wyatt Frampton, Montana Department of Natural Resources and Conservation - State Forester
        - Troy Heithecker, U.S. Forest Service - Rocky Mountain Regional Forester
- 2:00pm - 3:30pm: Aerial tour of Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem
    - Focus: This session will provide observations of forest restoration and wildfire impacts on watersheds in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem, the intersections of private and public lands, how wildlife migration corridors cross those boundaries and are dependent on healthy forest ecosystems, and how the growing recreation economy further complicates land management. This will be observed and discussed through conversation during a helicopter aerial tour. Each helicopter will include Senate attendees and local experts pointing out different forest restoration and wildlife migration corridor projects and bottlenecks on the landscape, and the relevant policy history that contributed to the project. Senate travelers will leave with an understanding of the various policy and funding challenges facing forest restoration and wildlife habitat connectivity projects, including litigation, environmental review, and the need for public-private partnerships.
        - The Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem is massive, covering roughly 22 million acres largely inaccessible by roads. This aerial tour of the landscape will offer participants a unique visual of the land management and wildlife stewardship issues in the area before seeing pieces of it from the ground through the rest of the trip. Specific areas of focus for discussion before and during the flights will include the impacts of wildfire on watersheds within the landscape, as well as visualizing how public lands are interspersed with private lands affecting forest management, wildlife migrations, and water quality. A highlight will be participants learning about and getting to see forest restoration work happening as part of the Bozeman Municipal Watershed Project, a forest restoration project to protect local watersheds spanning about 50,000 acres and impossible to cover from the ground. Because of how big the region is, this itinerary of starting and disembarking at a different location is necessary. Driving from Bozeman to Old Faithful Lodge is a minimum of a 2.5-hour drive, while driving into the Lodge from West Yellowstone is under an hour and would allow the Senators to spend more time directly learning and experiencing conservation issues on the ground instead of in a commute. The efficiency of traveling by air will significantly increase the educational value of the entire tour.

- Educational presenters:
  - Brian Yablonski, PERC - CEO
  - Tony Schoonen, Boone and Crockett Club - CEO
  - Undersecretary Michael Boren, U.S. Department of Agriculture - Under Secretary of Agriculture for Natural Resources and Environment
  - Hannah Downey, PERC - Associate Vice President of Policy
  - Simon Roosevelt, Boone and Crockett Club - Executive Vice President of Conservation Policy
  - James Cummins, Boone and Crockett Club and Wildlife Mississippi - Executive Director

- 4:00pm - 5:30pm: Drive from West Yellowstone to Old Faithful Inn
  - Focus: Senate travelers will experience firsthand the challenges and opportunities facing national parks and their gateway communities while driving from West Yellowstone into Yellowstone National Park. They will be accompanied in each car by local experts who will highlight policy priorities including the impacts of surging visitor numbers on national park gateway communities like West Yellowstone, the role of the Federal Lands Recreation Enhancement Act and visitor fee collection in funding national parks, and the challenges of moving record number of visitors through Yellowstone National Park while also conserving the natural resources. Senate travelers will leave with a better understanding of how policies and regulations, including fee structures and visitor management tools, impact both visitors and federal resources.
  - Educational presenters:
    - Brian Yablonski, PERC - CEO
    - Tony Schoonen, Boone and Crockett Club - CEO
    - Hannah Downey, PERC -

- 6:00pm - 7:15pm: Educational tour of Old Faithful and Old Faithful Inn
  - Focus: Senate travelers will experience firsthand the history of Yellowstone National Park and the management opportunities and challenges that come with stewarding the first national park. Yellowstone Superintendent Cam Sholly will lead attendees on a private tour of Old Faithful Inn, highlighting the historic preservation done to maintain this important piece of history and offering a chance to observe how the park manages visitors for eruptions at Old Faithful geyser, one of the biggest draws in the park. The session will end with a fireside chat by Superintendent Sholly discussing how he balances natural resource conservation and providing a quality visitor experience at Yellowstone, and answering questions from attendees.

- Educational presenters:
  - Superintendent Cam Sholly, Yellowstone National Park - Superintendent

They will learn about how federal land management policies shape engagement with neighboring landowners and which policies most impact wildlife conservation in the park. Superintendent Cam Sholly, Brian Yablonski, and Tony Schoonen will serve as discussion leads to provide background and answer questions.
  - Educational presenters:
