AMERICAN LANDS PROJECT

Cydney Karlins
Legislative Assistant
Senator Raphael Warnock
717 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Cydney,

The American Lands Project (ALP) appreciates your interest in the fact-finding trip to Denali National Park and Preserve. Denali encompasses more than six million acres and is a crown jewel of the national parks system. The park's ecosystem supports abundant wildlife, including bears, caribou, Dall sheep, moose, wolves, over 160 bird species, as well as rich and diverse vegetation. The park is also home to North America's tallest mountain. Denali is a cornerstone of Alaska's tourism and outdoor recreation industries, and a significant economic driver for the state and local communities.

Indigenous history in the Denali region spans over ten thousand years. There are many distinct Alaska Native groups across the state, and a number continue to rely on subsistence resources for food, shelter, clothing, transportation, and trade.

A fact-finding trip to Denali will provide you with the opportunity to experience and learn firsthand about Alaska's public lands and waters, ecosystems and geology, Alaska Native culture, and economy through a unique setting located within the park. The agenda will focus on public lands and cultural issues in Alaska from the early 1900s to today, providing guests with a comprehensive understanding of Alaska's unique legislative and legal public lands framework and the latest developments in land and resource use across an array of landscapes.

Expert guides will cover topics including: the area's human and natural history, current land and resource management issues, federal investment in national parks and other public lands, the economic impact of tourism and outdoor recreation, as well as Alaska Native subsistence and cultural uses of lands and waters. Guests will also meet with Tribal leaders and local community members.

We would like to invite you to join ALP for a trip to Denali National Park and Preserve from August 27 to September 1, 2026 – on the ground in Denali National Park from August 28th to August 31st. The trip will be fully sponsored by ALP, including all travel, lodging, and meals. We will follow up with the formal 2026 trip itinerary and will assist with the required documentation for submission to the Senate Committee on Ethics.

Sincerely,

Natalie Smink
Education & Trips Coordinator

History of Congressional Travel

American Lands Project (ALP) has organized a variety of sponsored travel opportunities for Senate and House members and staff over the last few years to locations such as Southeast Alaska, America's Arctic, the Owyhee Canyonlands, and the Rio Grande del Norte National Monument. In 2023, ALP hosted three trips to the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge (ANWR) for House Members and Senate staff, and two trips to the Tongass National Forest for a Senate Member and Senate and House Staff. In 2024, ALP hosted five trips to the ANWR for a Senate Member, a House Member, Senate staff, and House Staff; and one trip to the Tongass National Forest for House staff. In 2025, ALP hosted four trips to the ANWR for two House Members, Senate staff, and House staff; and two trips to the Tongass National Forest for two House Members, Senate staff, and House staff. In 2026, ALP hosted a trip to the Rio Grande del Norte National Monument for Senate staff and a trip to the ANWR for House Members.

Educational Activities

ALP conducts educational briefings for decision-makers in Washington, DC, and works in coalition with diverse organizations engaged with policies surrounding the use and management of America's public lands and waters. ALP also provides educational trips for non-congressional organizations.

Purpose and Details

Provide a brief description of the trip.

This fact-finding trip to Interior Alaska and Denali National Park and Preserve offers participants an opportunity to learn first-hand about federal public lands in Alaska. Attendees will explore the region's unique legislative history and land management frameworks, along with the conservation and multiple uses of federal lands. The itinerary also covers federal investment in national parks and other public lands, the economic impacts of tourism and outdoor recreation, and Alaska Native history and culture. Participants will have the opportunity to visit a remote section of Denali National Park to better understand the discussion topics, experience its ecology and geology, and meet with Tribal and local stakeholders.

Explain how the purpose of the trip relates to your organization's mission.

American Lands Project seeks to inform discussions regarding important public lands in our nation, in part through facilitating fact-finding travel centered around place-based education. This trip will provide history, context, and understanding for the attendees in support of their offices' responsibilities related to the vast federal public lands in Alaska and specifically, Denali National Park and Preserve.

ANILCA designated most of the National Park Service units in Alaska, as well as wilderness areas, national wildlife refuges, and national monuments across the state. It also established a priority for subsistence uses of fish and wildlife resources for rural residents during times of scarcity. ANILCA is the foundation of federal land management in Alaska and is essential to understanding current discussions surrounding resource management and utilization in Alaska.

Saturday, August 29, 2026
Attendees: Abimael Jimenez, Cydney Karlins, Elizabeth Mabry, Nathan Robinson, Lukas Kauth, Julien Caubel, Catherine Melman-Kenny, Ellen Wang, Jason Paulsen, Camp Denali Guide (to be assigned)

- 7:30 a.m. – 9:00 a.m. Breakfast

- 9:00 a.m. – 10:30 a.m. Guided Hike to observe the geologic and glacial history of Denali National Park. The Pacific Plate collides with the North American Plate beneath Alaska which created the Alaska Range and leaves the area seismically active today. Denali has also seen the advancement and retreat of ice sheets across its landscape throughout its history, carving many of the valleys found there today.

(All flight times to and from Camp Denali are subject to change based on weather)*

- 10:30 a.m. – 12:00 p.m. Observe the impacts of recent warming temperatures on the landscape, including melting permafrost and damage to road infrastructure. Discuss the closure of the Park Road at Mile 43, where permafrost melt accelerated the Pretty Rocks landslide making the road unsafe to drive. The park has been working to construct a bridge over this section of the road since 2021 to make it safe and accessible again. Discuss the impacts of permafrost melt on infrastructure both in Denali and throughout Alaska. Review estimates on the quantity of methane stored in permafrost along with recent scientific studies analyzing the climate inputs associated with increases in temperature. Alaskan landscapes are a major reservoir of this greenhouse gas, and rising temperatures have been accelerating release from existing stores in the permafrost.

- 12:00 p.m. - 1:30 p.m. Working Lunch: Discussion of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act of 1971 (ANCSA): Review the history and key elements of ANCSA, which extinguished aboriginal land title in Alaska, divided the state into 12 regions based on the common heritage and shared interests of the Alaska Native people within each geographic area, and mandated the creation of for-profit entities, which Congress termed "Alaska Native Corporations," tasked with promoting the social, cultural, and economic advancement of Alaska Native people and communities. A thirteenth Native Corporation was later created for Alaska Natives who no longer resided in Alaska.

- 1:30 p.m. – 3:30 p.m. Guided hike from Camp Denali to observe local wildlife. Discuss key wildlife interactions within Denali National Park and the use of the landscape by migratory birds, caribou, grizzly bears and other wildlife. Talk about how the landscape is managed and monitored by the National Park Service.

- 3:30 p.m. - 4:30 p.m. Break

- 4:30 p.m. – 6:00 p.m. Overview of the various public lands across Alaska including the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge, National Petroleum Reserve - Alaska, Gates of the Arctic National Park, and the Tongass National Forest. Use maps to understand how these units of public land are spread across Alaska. Federal lands make up more than 60% of Alaska and almost two-thirds of all National Park Service land is found in Alaska.

- 6:00 p.m. - 7:30 p.m. Dinner

- 7:30 p.m. - 9:00 p.m. After dinner discussion on the fossil fuel resources throughout Alaska, the history of development across the state, and its role in the Alaskan economy. Use maps to examine the geography and chronology of energy and infrastructure development in Alaska, including the discovery of oil in Prudhoe bay and the construction of the Trans-Alaska Pipeline to transport oil from the North Slope of Alaska. Provide an overview of the Alaska Permanent Fund, created in 1976 via an amendment to the state constitution to help manage the growing state income from oil and gas development. This will help guests better understand Alaska's fossil fuel resources and how their extraction and use relate to the nation's energy goals.

(All flight times to and from Camp Denali are subject to change based on weather)*

- 7:30 a.m. – 9:00 a.m. Breakfast

- 9:00 a.m. – 10:30 a.m. Guided Hike Discussion: Overview of Indigenous community connections to Denali National Park. This area is the homeland of the Dena'ian, Koyukon, Lower Tanana, Upper Kuskokwim, and Western Ahtna people who have been stewards of this land for thousands of years. Discuss the history of these communities and the impacts of the formation of the national park on their communities and subsistence lifestyles.

- 10:30 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. Overview of subsistence use and how it supports rural Alaskans. Federal law defines subsistence use as "the customary and traditional uses by rural Alaska residents of wild, renewable resources for such direct personal or family consumption as food, shelter, fuel, clothing, tools or transportation; the making and selling of handicraft articles… for barter or sharing for personal or family consumption; and for customary trade."

- 12:00 p.m. - 1:00 p.m. Lunch

- 1:00 p.m. - 2:30 p.m. Guided Hike to visit lakes and streams surrounding Camp Denali. Discuss the importance of fish species such as Grayling and trout as a food source for bears and other wildlife within the Northern Denali ecosystem. These species, along with salmon, are also a critical food source for Alaskans and wildlife across the state and help transport nutrients into a variety of Alaskan ecosystems. Commercial fishing plays an important role in the state's economy and subsistence fishing is essential for many Alaskans.

- 2:30 p.m. - 4:00 p.m. Observe local vegetation and discuss how changes in temperature have impacted the ecological ranges of different plant species throughout the park. Discuss the impact that these changes have on the overall landscape and habitat distribution of the mammals, birds, and other wildlife that rely on certain plants for food and shelter.

- 4:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m. Break.

- 5:00 p.m. - 6:00 p.m. Overview of the construction of the Alaska Railroad, the Denali Park Road, and other large development projects in Alaska. Discuss the role of the nearby Kantishna mining district in these infrastructure projects .

- 6:00 p.m. - 7:30 p.m. Dinner

- 7:30 p.m. - 9:00 p.m. After dinner discussion on the industries that make up the Alaskan economy including oil and gas, mining, logging, commercial fishing, and tourism. Provide an overview of each industry and how its role in the Alaskan economy has shifted over time.
