Dear Sarah,

I am writing you today on behalf of the Employee Ownership Foundation and the Center on Business and Poverty to formally invite you to attend the Oxford Symposium on Employee Ownership August 2 – 7, 2026.

This annual event is a gathering of the leaders, stakeholders, and decision makers in the international employee ownership movement where participants learn about and discuss major issues and obstacles to participatory capitalism and employee ownership. This year's symposium is focused on exploring policy and structural barriers to the formation of Employee Stock Ownership Plans and analogous shared equity arrangements, which are growing and receiving renewed interest in countries around the world including the United States and The United Kingdom. It will be held August 2-7 in London and at Oxford University. Prior to the symposium, we will also host a full-day pre-conference session for government officials who will attend the symposium to ensure a common baseline of knowledge and understanding of major Employee Ownership model concepts in London.

You should have received a link from the Senate Ethics Committee through which you will submit your travel documentation. With the required ethics approvals, your travel expenses would be sponsored by the Employee Ownership Foundation as described in the portal, including transportation, lodging, and meals.

We are anticipating more than 120 participants and attendees from more than 24 nations. For further information about the symposium, please look here: http://eosymposium.org/

Should you have any questions, or require any further information, please feel free to reach us at 202-293-2971.

I truly hope you will be able to join us for this important symposium and discussion at Oxford in August.

With warm regards,

James J. Bonham

Purpose and Details

Provide a brief description of the trip.

The Oxford Symposium on Employee Ownership is a gathering of leaders, stakeholders, and decision makers in the international employee ownership community. This annual gathering explores major issues and obstacles to participatory capitalism and employee ownership. The 2026 symposium is focused on the expanding models for employee ownership being adopted by various governments, ongoing regulatory obstacles to employee ownership under different governments, and the role of employee ownership in economies facing workforce disruption caused by artificial intelligence adoption. Presenters, panelists, and participants will include current and former government officials, academics with background in employee ownership and equity share arrangements, practitioners in the areas of law and plan administration, and leaders of non-profit organizations operating in more than 24 nations.

Explain how the purpose of the trip relates to your organization's mission.

The Employee Ownership Foundation's mission is to grow awareness of and increase the number of employee owned businesses, including Employee Stock Ownership Plans and Employee Ownership Trusts. The Oxford Symposium on Employee Ownership is designed to convene global thought leaders, practitioners, and policymakers to engage in international idea exchange focused on reducing barriers and improving access to employee equity share arrangements in business. By providing funding to allow Senate staff with interest or responsibility for employee ownership or employee equity plans to participate, the EOF advances its mission of growing awareness and knowledge among key policy makers and thought leaders in the Congress.
